

About Us

Since our inauguration in 2001, we have come a long way from a modest informal group of service providers to become the industry-leading cartel representing a group of collective and organized SMEs. We offer full-cycle services in eight core practices encompassing all aspects of the IT-based environment. We combine solid business domain expertise, superior technical know-how, profound knowledge of the latest industry trends, and quality-optimized delivery models to create progressive and end-to-end business solutions and services.

Our delivery of multi-faceted solutions facilitates our customers to enjoy the unique benefits of tremendous synergy and authentic collaboration. We engage in diligent research and testing and conduct best-in-breed approaches so that our customers enjoy the distinct advantages of enhanced productivity and profitability via accurate applications of our unique and virtual technology systems. We deploy award-winning, road-tested methodologies and combine them with the best industry practices to epitomize manageability and visible clarity in all our solutions.

Our Team

Our team is rich with unrivaled IT experience and expertise with resources to provide services personifying responsibility, flexibility, agility, and end-to-end visibility. With our assured position of trusted membership among a heterogeneous group of benchmark blue-chip companies and organizations, we have so far provided services for more than 60 organizations representing leading public and private sector financial, industrial, and commercial institutions. No organization is too small or too big for our talented team at ORPAX.

Whether you are looking for a simple and appealing website design or require a complex and advanced multi-tiered IT system development, we can provide custom services accounting for the latest industry trends and technologies. ORPAX QUALTRA brings you world-class service with outsourcing and offshore options from our central base of development located in India.

Our fundamental business philosophy stems from realizing that our success is intricately tied to our client's success. Therefore, we are committed to delivering total output values to all our customers to help them succeed in this ever-changing and highly challenging business world. We shall never hesitate to take that extra mile to ensure the deliverance of measurable business values.
